HOW TO PAINT EVIL SUNZ ORKS EVIL SUNZ ORKS CLAN

Duncan Rhodes, one of the Hobby Team's dedicated army painters, shows us how he painted an Ork Bommer and an Evil Sunz army to go with it.

INSPIRATION

Duncan: Inspired by the Ork Bommer kit, I decided to paint an Ork army belonging to the Evil Sunz Clan to accompany one. Of all the Ork clans, the Evil Sunz are renowned for their love of vehicles – the faster and louder the better. With a Dakkajet and a Deffkopta squadron at the forefront of the army, the Evil Sunz were the most suitable choice by far.

The Ork Bommer can be assembled as any of three different types of aircraft and there are loads of different ways to build each one. I opted for the Dakkajet as it's the shootiest of them all. After reading the rules and background for the different Ork aircraft, I was really inspired by the mention of an Ork Fighta Ace known as da Krimson Baron. I decided to assemble and paint my Dakkajet to represent this infamous flyboy, ensuring that I included all of the available upgrades, such as an additional twin-linked supa shoota, onto the model.

With such a strong aerial presence in the army (a Waaagh! Air Force, if you will), I used the spare Ork pilot heads from the Ork Bommer kit on some of the Ork Boyz and Deffkopta pilots to help reinforce the army's overall theme. When I get around to adding some Grots to the force, I will do the same with the spare Grot gunner heads as well.

Codex: Orks is the definitive guide to fielding an army of savage greenskins in the 41st Millennium. Look no further than this book to ready your Waaagh!

HOW TO PAINT EVIL SUNZ ORKS

PAINTING EVIL SUNZ ORKS

Duncan: The Evil Sunz are firm believers of the age-old Ork adage that 'red wunz go fasta', so my colour scheme was clear from the start.

However, as much as I made sure to use red throughout the army (on armour plates and other such surfaces), I wanted to add a bit of variety to these shades to represent the scavenging nature of the Orks – some of the materials that they use will invariably be older and more weathered than others that have been bolted on more recently. For this reason, after using the Citadel Spray Gun to apply a basecoat of Mephiston Red, I painted some panels on the fuselage in a different shade of red.

HOW TO PAINT NECRONS USING THIS GUIDE

On the following pages you will find a step-by-step guide to painting the Citadel miniatures showcased in this article. In each case you will see a quick reference guide to painting the featured model. While these guides make a great starting point, you will find far more detailed information on the Citadel paints, tools and techniques featured here in How To Paint Citadel Miniatures. For best results we heartily recommend that you keep your copy near to hand while following these guides.

To one side of every page that showcases a model's paint scheme you will see our quick reference guide. This is laid out in numbered steps and gives you the basic information required to paint your models so that they match those shown.

The top part of each step of the reference guide points out the Citadel paint, wash or glaze in use, while the bottom refers to the specific type of Citadel paintbrush that is being utilised. The small band of colour on the left of the brush name is colour coded to match the ends of the brushes in your Citadel Brush collection, making it even easier to pick the correct tool.

EVIL SUNZ ORKS SHOWCASE

Using the same four stages for painting the metal, Duncan added chips to the paintwork all over the Dakkajet's wings and fuselage for a more worn and rugged look. Duncan's final stage was to apply some appropriate decals from the transfer sheet included in the kit and weather then with flecks of the Layer colour over which the had been affixed.
